Shuffling occurs when the result cannot be created independently of some other piece of data.